18TH YEAR - NO. 6 THURSDAY FEBRUARY 8, 1973 FIFTEEN CENTS

NO PRECINCTS THIS YEAR

Wilmington Selectmen can relax

Wilmington's Board of Selectmen can sit back and relax a little. For some months they have been worrying collectively, about the state law dividing towns and cities into precincts. To the Selectmen it would involve needless expenses and work, and unanimously they were opposed, so much so that they asked the Town Counsel to find out what would happen if they did not obey the law.

Chapter 1, of the Acts of 1973, the first law voted this year by the Great and General Court, on January 23rd, delays the effect of the previous law, providing that the Selectmen have so voted by February 1 of this year. The exact wording is: "unless said board of Selectmen votes prior to February first, nineteen hundred and seventy-three to establish January first, nineteen hundred and seventy-four as the effective date of said change for town election purposes."

Wilmington's Selectmen, on January 22, the day before the legislature, voteed that they would not conform in 1973, and the thus voters of Wilmington will have no effective change, in the annual Town Election, in March.

All voting in March will be in the High School gymnasium, according to Mrs. Esther Russell, Town Clerk.

A worse mess than usual

THE JANITORS WALKED OUT: According to reports given to this paper, last Thursday, when Wilmington High School youngsters made a 'worse mess than usual' in the high school cafeteria.
One of their extra jobs at the moment is the removing of paint used by some jokester, on January 26th. Red paint and aluminum colored paint was used for large lettered signs, as shown above, on many parts of the high school building.

K of C Hearings Cancelled

Applications for permits and licenses, in behalf of the Father Edmund Croke Council, Knights of Columbus, of Wilmington have been withdrawn, by Atty. Joseph Courtney. The withdrawel has effectively cancelled the public hearing scheduled for next Monday, in the Wilmington Town Hall.

SCHOOL STREET RESIDENTS: Registering their feelings, appeared before the Wilmington Planning Board, on Jan. 30th to discuss the K of C problems. In front are Attorney June Prue of North Reading and spokesman Frank Bellevue of School Street. Atty. Prue is a member of the Planning Board of North Reading.

Courtney told the Town Crier yesterday that the applications had been withdrawn to provide an opportunity to work out an accomodation on traffic and related problems with /rotesting neighbors. Courtney noted, he told the Town Crier, that an "incredible amount" of misunderstanding and mis-information had been generated, concerning the intentions of the Knights of Columbus, and that the organization was prepared to accomodate any reasonable grievances.

The principal issue appears to be the traffic questions in the area, he said.

The three applications withdrawn include requests for a common victualer license, a function hall permit, and a license for serving alcoholic beverages in the function room of the Knights of Columbus Hall.

School Street and Drury Lane neighbors, and others, have been protesting the applications since the day that Courtney and members of the K of C made application befoore the Board of Selectmen.

Half a dozen families were represented two weeks ago at the Planning Board meeting, and some of those re-appeared at the meeting on Tuesday last, seeking the co-operation of the Planning Board.

The Wilmington Planning Board, Tuesday, agreed to write letters to the Board of Selectmen, for next Monday, contesting the issuance of licenses in an area zoned for residences. The board readily agreed, after only a few minutes conversation.

$1.4 million disposal plant proposed for Tewksbury Dump

The Tewksbury planning board learned Monday night a $1.4 trash compacting plant could be built at the town dump if the March town meeting passes three articles to allow the facility.

Atty. A. Joseph Kileen said Northeast Rubbish Compaction Co. of Boston seeks to build the plant at the town dump, owned by Anthony Rocco. Kileen said Rocco is willing to sell the dumpland to Northeast. In addition, he said, Northeast has verbal sales agreements from persons owning land along the abandoned railroad bed from Shawsheen Street to the dump.

The railroad bed, Kileen said, would be used for an industrial road to the dump. The road would meet town standards and would be turned over to the town after completion, he added.

Extends dump life

Kileen predicted the compacting plant would extend the life of the dump many times. Planners recalled estimates the dump would only last another 15 years. The attorney said the compacting process would extend the life of the dump threefold. He said compacting would allow the dump to hold 10 times what it would now, though much of the new material would be from surrounding towns which could dump there too.

Northeast, he said, would process Tewksbury's rubbish at no cost to the town, resulting in an annual saving of $20,000 to governmental expenses. In addition, he said, the town would be paid 50 cents for each ton of rubbish processed at the facility.

The plant, he said, would meet all requirements of the board of health. He said the plant utilized hydraulic presses which compacted waste matter into 500 pound solid blocks free from rodent, insect and methane gas problems. Kileen said there were few plants of the type in the United States, and the nearest was one in Cambridge that was destroyed in a fire last year. "It is almost inert," he said. "Over the years the gases do escape, but at such a slow rate that there is no real danger."

SUPPORTS COMPACTING PLANT: Atty. Joseph A. Kileen said he only agreed to represent a firm that seeks to operate a trash compacting plant at the Tewksbury dump after was convinced the facility would benefit the town.

Whelan favors plant

Joseph J. Whelan, chairman of the board of selectmen, spoke in favor of the project at the meeting. He said he had seen a steel mill in Tokyo harbor built on blocks of compacted rubbish such as would be turned out by the plant.

Kileen commented, that Northeast had no plans now to sell the blocks of compacted rubbish. He said the firm would add more than $1 million to the town's tax base. "They don't seek a tax break or a deal on assessments of anything like that," he said. Kileen reported Northeast had no plans to expaAnd the facility beyond the limits of the present dump. The planners set a public hearing on three articles February 26. The articles would list "a modern rubbish compaction facility approved by the board of health" among uses allowed in industrial districts, and would allow such a facility at the dump.

Kileen explained that the planning board, because of the late date of the hearing, could kill the project by simply not making recommendations on the three articles.

Planners have doubts

Chairman Joseph Doherty, and planners Frederick H. Baldwin, Edward Flanagan and George Donovan expressed reservations about the plant, but voted to hold the hearing.

Flanagan questioned whether the life of the dump might be shortened because rubbish from other towns would be allowed. Kileen answered that Northeast would be ill advised to invest such money on a plant that would go out of business in a few years. Flanagan commented that if the blocks of rubbish could be sold for fill, the life of the dump could be definitely extended.

SEEDS OF REBELLION BEGIN IN TEWKSBURY

On February 7, 1773, 200 years ago Wednesday, Tewksbury held a town meeting to choose a committee for correspondence. Such committees were set up by communities throughout the 13 American colonies to report intelligence information about British rule as well as the feelings of local residents toward the British.

The information gathered by the committees led to increased rebelliousness by the Americans, culmiating in the Revolution two years later.

Names to Tewksbury's Committee of Correspondence was Ezra Kindal, Aaron Beane, John Needham, Nathaniel Heywood and Davis Trull. They were instructed to begin correspondence with the town of Boston.

Baldwin resigns as planner, draws Flanagan Attack

Frederick H. Baldwin Jr. notified the planning board Monday he was resigning immediately. Baldwin's announcement sparked criticism from planner Edward A. Flanagan, who questioned the timing of the announcement and its political consequences.

Baldwin stated in a letter of resignation to Town Clerk John A. Hedstrom that his increased duties as a selectman required his resignation from the planning board. He is seeking re-election as a selectman in the March elections.

The resignation left the board with three members, chairman Joseph Doherty, Flanagan and George B. Donovan. Another planner, John J. Cooney, resigned from the board two weeks ago. Cooney's term was due to expire next month, and a replacement will be elected in March.

The remaining three planners immediately notified the selectmen asking the two boards appoint a replacement to fill Baldwin's unexpired term, which ends in March 1974.

The selectmen Tuesday agreed to meet with the planners February 13 to appoint a replacement. The timing of the announcement meant Baldwin will have a vote in naming his own replacement on the planning board.

Flanagan questioned Baldwin's wording in his letter of resignation. "That letter sounds like a political speach," he said.

Baldwin also drew Flanagan's fire for his timing of the resignation. The deadline for candidates to file nomination papers for town offices, including unexpired terms, fell only nine days before Baldwin resigned.

The selectmen Tuesday agreed to meet with the planners February 13 to appoint a replacement. The timing of the announcement allows Baldwin to have a vote in namiing his own replacement on the planning board.

Flanagan questioned Baldwin's wording in his letter of resignation. "That letter sounds like a political speach," he said.

Baldwin also drew Flanagan's fire for his timing of the resignation. The deadline for candidates to file nomination papers for town offices, including unexpired terms, fell only nine days before Baldwin resigned.

"Now it is too late to fill it (Baldwin's term) with the vote of the people," Flanagan said. He added that persons developing subdivisions in Tewksbury, such as Baldwin, "should not be on the planning board."

Baldwin said he only reached a final decision Friday not to continue as a planner. Doherty, with Donovan's support, said a replacement for Baldwin should be appointed as soon as possible. Doherty explained that with only three men on the board, they would have to be unanimous in all votes until Cooney's replacement is seated. In addition, he said, without a replacement for Baldwin, each member would have to attend every meeting until March to make quorums.

Baldwin drew Doherty's praise for chairing the board when the proposal to create a master plan was submitted to the 1971 town meeting. Doherty said Baldwin made several trips to Washington, D.C., on his own initiative to gain federal advice on the town's proposed sewer program.

Frederic H. Baldwin Jr.

Baldwin's announcement of resignation follows:

"Due to the multitude of responsibilities inherent with the office of Selectman, it is with deep regret that I offer this letter of resignation as a member of the Planning Board. My resignation is to be effective on this day, February 6, 1973.

"As a member of the Planning Board, I have taken great pride in initiating a comprehensive Master Plan that will be presented to the Townspeople this March. This plan certainly would not have reached fruition without the intensive and dedicated work of the full Planning Board of which I am proud to have been a part.

"I also take great pride in the Board's concerted efforts during the past four years in establishing the proposals for a Sewage Program that is now in the hands of the Sewer Commissioners.

"My original purpose in serving on the Planning Board was to initiate and carry to completion, a Master Plan and a Sewage Program with the express intent of improving conditions for the Homeowner and to attract vital industry to our town.

"Having fulfilled the obligations that I imposed on myself four years ago, I now feel that I will be able to give more time to my duties as a member of the Board of Selectmen.

"I have found my relationship with my colleagues on the Board to be a most valuable experience - an experience which I shall always remember. As an extension of my services as a member of the Board of Selectmen, I would be most happy to serve on the Planning Board in any of their future endeavors."

DIARY OF AN UNBORN CHILD

Oct. 5th: Today my life began. My parents do not know it yet, I am as small as a seed of an apple, but it is I already. And I am to be a girl. I shall have blond hair and blue eyes. Just about everything is settled though, even the fact that I shall love flowers.

Oct. 19th: Some say that I am not a real person yet, that only my mother exists. But I am a real person, just as a small crumb of breat is yet truly bread. My mother is. And I am.

Oct. 23rd: My mouth is just beginning to poen now. Just think, in a year or so I shall be laughing and later talking. I know what my first word will be : Mama.

Oct. 25th: My heart began to beat today all by itself. From now on it shall gently beat for the rest of my life without ever stopping to rest! And after many years it will tire. It will stop, and then I shall die.

Nov. 2nd: I am growing a bit every day. My arms and legs are beginning to take shape. But I have to wait a long time yet before those little legs will raise me to my mother's arms, before these little arms will be able to gather flowers and embrace my father.

Nov. 12th: Tiny fingers are beginning to form on my hands. Funny how small they are! I'll be able to stroke my mother's hair with them.

Nov. 20th: It wasn't until today that the doctor told mom that I am living here under her heart. Oh, how happy she must be! Are you happy, mom?

Nov. 25th: My mom and dad are probably thinking about a name for me. But they don't even know that I am a little girl. I want to be called Kathy. I am getting so big already.

Dec. 10th: My hair is growing. It is smooth and bright and shiny. I wonder what kind of hair mom has.

Dec. 13th: I am just about able to see. It is dark around me. When mom brings me into the world it will be full of sunshine and flowers. But what I want more than anything is to see my mom. How do you look, mom?

Dec. 24th: I wonder if mom hears the whispering of my heart? Some children come into the world a little sick. But my heart is strong and healtthy. It beats so evenly: tup-tup, tup-tup. You'll have a healthy little daughter, mom!

Dec. 28th: Today my mother killed me.

NEW BOOKS

"Feminine Plural" - edited by Stephanie Spinner. Ten gifted women writers explore the varied paths from girlhood to womanhood in the pages of this anthology.

"The Opera" by Joseph Wechsberg. Explains why, of the 42,000 operas said to have been written, only a few hundred survive to give opera lovers lasting pleasure. These classics are discussed in detail.

"Years Away from Home" by Gladys Hasty Carroll. Gladys Hasty Carroll relives those early years as a wife and writer, the need to save every penny as her husband's academic progress swept them from city to city, and her own daoutless and resourceful pursuit of her career.

"The Case of the Postponed Murder", a new Perry Mason novel by Earl Stanley Gardner. It didn't take Mason long to figure out that this so-called Sylvia Farr was no poor little girl from the country in search of her missing sister, but was indeed sister Mae herself, a girl in trouble os some sort. So Perry went to bat and soon found himself in a hot ball game - one called murder.

"Wild Pitch" by A.B. Guthrie Jr. After Buster Hogue gets shot at the annual town picnic plenty of motives appear but no clues point to the sniper. The sniper snipes again and in a violent and surprising finale young Jase plays a saving hand.

"Small-on Safety; the Designed-in Dangers of the Volkswagen" by the Center for Auto Safety in close association with Ralph Nader. This book shows how and why the Bettle is unsafe, how small size alone is dangerous in a small car world. Among other things, the VW's failure rate in government safety compliance tests is more than seven times worse than that of other cars.

"The Fall and Rise of Jimmy Hoffa" by Walter Sheridan. This fully documented expose of Jimmy Hoffa's career and business dealings could have been written by only one man. Investigative reporter Walter Sheridan spent many years probing the twisted fortunes of the Teamsters Union. At the base of his empire is the Teamsters Pension Fund, a $1 billion kitty which has been used for years to aid a strange assortment of allies and to exercise political power.

'Boy' general builds town's most famous home

The man behind Tewksbury's 'Castle'

by Bob Morris

During the First Battle of Bull Run in the Civil War, the green citizen soldiers of Massachusetts and other northern states broke before the experienced country riflemen of the Confederacy. Many of the Union soldiers ran from the battlefield, but some didn't. One man who ranks high in Tewksbury's history earned the Medal of Honor for his bravery there.

Adelbert Ames was born October 31, 1835, and died April 13, 1933. Encompassed within those 97 years was brilliant service in the Army, governorship of Mississippi, impeachment proceedings that forced him to resign that post and later years of wealth among the wealthy in Tewksbury and Florida.

Born in Rockland, Maine, Adelbert Ames was the son of a sea captain, Jesse Ames, who in later years owned and operated a successful flour mill business in Northfield, Minn. Del was educated in public schools, and in his teens followed his father to sea.

He was always interested in military affairs, so in 1856 he quit as first mate of a clipper and entered West Point.

Ames was graduated fifth in his class May 6, 1861. Among his classmates was George Armstrong Custer, and both earned generals' stars while still in their twenties.

At Bull Run

Eight days after graduation, Ames was promoted to first lieutenant and assigned to the 5th Artillery Regiment outside Washington, D.C. He drilled volunteers for two months, until the regiment was ordered into the First Battle of Bull Run July 21. The battle was a castrophe for the Union Army, which hoped to end the war in one major battle, but Ames earned the nation's highest military decoration there.

Everywhere the Union troops seemed to collapse, but Ames' men did well in the battle. He was shot through the thigh early in the fighting, but insisted on staying with his section. Though bleeding badly, he sat on a caisson, directing his section's fire until he was so weak he had to be carried away on an ammunition wagon.

For his bravery, Ames was given temporary rank of major in the regular army that day, and later Congress awarded him the Medal of Honor. Recovered from his wound in September, he rejoined his regiment where he was made commander of a battery in October.

The Ames family was well known in Maine, and even in Massachusetts where one member was elected to the General Court in 1636. While the new major drilled his men outside Washington during the winter, he had many socially and politically prominent visitors at his camp. One was another Maine native, Vice President Hannibal Hamlin. Ames always had an eye for business, and wrote his parents during this period that they should invest in real estate because the war was sure to drive up prices.

In Yorktown battle

In March 1862, he was back in action. His battery provided supporting fire for troops until August as a part of the Peninsula Campaign in Virginia. The 5th was prominent in the seige of Yorktown, Virginia in April and May, and later served at Gaine's Mill June 27 and Malvern Hill July 1.

At Gaine's Hill, Ames' unit got within a few miles of Richmond before the Northern forces were finally forced to retreat. The Union forces weren't again to approach so near the capitol of the Confederacy until 1864. For his service at Malvern Hill, Ames was promoted to the temporary rank of lieutenant colonel in the regular army.

On August 29, 1862, he was promoted colonel of volunteers, whose units and ranks were separate from those of the regular army. Named commander of the famous 20th Main Volunteer Regiment, he saw service throughout the Maryland Campaign of September through November, including the Battle of Antietam September 17.

Colonel Ames' regiment joined the Rapahannock Campaign of December 1862 to June 1863. During the Battle of Fredericksburg December 13, General Ambrose Burnside's regiments failed repeatedly to capture a sunken, walled road in the area of the battlefield called Marye's Heights. Burnside finally ordered General Joseph Hooker to capture the road.

Hooker opposes attack

Hooker, who more than deserved his knickname of "Fightin' Joe," viewed the objective through field glasses. The road lay uphill at the end of a 1700 yard open field, and was bristling with riflemen. Beyond the road, at the crest of the heights, was a tremendous concentration of artillery, all aimed at the field his men were supposed to storm uphill.

Hooker told Burnside the road was impregnable, and for one of the few times in the war, pleaded for an assault to be abandoned. Burnside repeated his order to attack, and Hooker told Ames to advance against the road.

Ames personally led the 20th Maine in the assault, the only regimental commander to do so at Fredericksburg. An officer from a regiment pinned down in the field later said Ames calmly let the 20th across the field to his position and told him quietly, "I will move over your line and relieve your men."

Hooker's belief in the road's impregnability proved correct, and at nightfall the entire union army pulled back without Ames capturing his objective. Colonel Ames, though six feet tall and a perfect target, escaped injury in the attack. Of the 36 men dead and wounded he lost, every one was behind him when hit.

Wins officers' respect

Before Fredericksberg, Ames' volunteers disliked his stern discipline and constant drilling, but his officers were so impressed with his leadership in the battle they later gave him a $200 sword, sach and belt that at today's prices would be worth thousands of dollars.

Colonel Ames next saw service at the Battle of Chancellorsville, where he was aide de camp to General Hooker May 2 - 4, 1863. Hooker, after constant requests to superiors, finally got Ames promoted to Brigadier General of Volunteers May 20, when Ames was only 27 years old. He thus became one of the Civil War's famous "boy generals."

The new brigadier almost immediately saw combat at the Battle of Beverly Ford June 9. On July 1, the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg, he commanded a brigade and was given temporary promotion to colonel in the regular army. When his commanding officer was wounded in the fighting, Ames took command of the division July 2 and 3. His division held the line at East Cemetery Hill, and was exposed to attacks from in front and on both flanks.

Earns cheers

On the third day of the battle, Ames was riding with a general from General Meade's staff and found troops in one portion of the line cheering and waving their hats at them.

Ames congratulated the general for drawing the response, but the general told him the troops were the 20th Maine, Ames' old unit, and were cheering him.

In the next 18 months Ames took part in the siege of Charleston, N.C., commanded a division in Florida and returned north. He saw action at Walthall Junction, Va., May 7, 1864, and Cold Harbor June 3. He led brigades and divisions in actions around Fredericksberg and Richmond until December, and was at Darbytown Road October 13 and 27. During a brief leave in September, he sent his savings and everything he could borrow back to his father to invest in the family flour mill in Northfield, Minn.

From December 7-28, 1864, he served in the unsuccessful attack on Fort Fisher, N.C., under Lowell's Maj. Gen. Benjamin Butler, who later became his father-in-law. Fort Fisher allowed Wilmington, N.C., to remain the Confederacy's last open port, and Ames was happy when his division was assigned to the second assault on the fort January 2.

General Alfred Terry, who now commanded the attack, tried for two weeks to capture the fort, but his troops failed in their attempts. Finally Terry turned the job over to Ames' 3rd Division, and left the job of planning the attack to Ames.

Ames attacked the fort at 3 p.m. January 15, eventually using a total of 3,000 men in the assault. He personally directed his troops into their positions, wearing his brigadier general's dress uniform, his brown hair, beard and mustach carefully groomed. The tall officer seemed unconcerned about repeated fire from sharpshooters he and his staff came under.

Aide praises him

Col. Henry C. Lockwood, his aide de camp, later wrote, "Ames never hesitated to take desperate chances under fire. He seemed to have a life that was under some mystic protection." Lockwood described Ames as being throughout the attack cool, calm and gentlemanly.

"Under the heaviest fire, when men and officers were being struck down around him, he would sit on his horse, apparently unmoved by singing rifle ball, shrieking shot or bursting shell..and quietly gave his orders," Lockwood wrote.

During the night, Ames' division captured the fort, and took 2000 prisoners and 72 cannon. The attack cost him 650 men killed and wounded, including four of the six staff officers he personally took into the fort during the assault.

Ames that day was appointed to the temporary rank of major general of volunteers. For his service at Fort Fisher, he was promoted February 22 to the permanent rank of captain in the regular army, and on March 13 was named to the temporary rank of major general in the regular army for his service in the war.

Terry gets credit

Although Ames was promoted, 'erry took immediate credit for the victory at Fort Fisher. Terry later admitted Ames was responsible for the capture of the fort, but his admission was largely ignored.

Had it not been, Ames would probably have been known as one of the great generals of the Civil War, for the closing of Wilmington as a port meant the Confederacy was doomed.

After Fort Fisher, Ames' division moved up the Cape Fear River and helped capture Wilmington, N.C., February 27. General Ames fought in the Battle of Bentonville March 21, and also participated in the capture of Raleigh, N.C., before the war ended.

After the war, Ames was mustered out of the volunteer army, and promoted to the permanent rank of lieutenant colonel in the regular army., He took 10 months leave and travelled throughout Europe, where he was presented before the Court of St. James in England and that of Napoleon III in France.

In June 1867 he returned to the United States to serve with the army of occupation in the South. He was given the temporary rank of major general in the regular army by General Grant, who named him provisional governor of Mississippi. Later that command was extended to the 4th Military District, one of the five districts that governed the occupied South.

Becomes senator

In 1869 Ames was elected to an unexpired term as U.S. Senator from Mississippi by the newly enfranchised blacks, unionist Southerners and Northern settlers. He resigned from the army before taking the post.

On July 21, 1870 he married Blanche Ames, the daughter of Major General Butler. Ames met Blanche in the senate galleries in 1868. Their wedding at St. Ann's Episcopal Church in Lowell was attended by 600 invited guests, and 10,000 persons cheered the wedding procession.

Ames' term in the senate was largely spent dealing with reconstruction acts. In 1873 he resigned from the senate when he was elected governor of Mississippi by the same reconstruction political elements.

The Ames Administration was a troubled one. Even before Ames took office, the former Confederates rioted in Vicksburg, and within months the state was in virtual anarchy. Blacks were lynched, police were rendered ineffective by the more numerous former Confederates, and state government almost ceased to exist.

General Adelbert Ames

Calls for aid

Governor Ames called for help from Washington, but the Republican Administration there had made a deal with the former rebels not to block their reassumption of power in the South. In the November elections of 1875, the newly enfranchised former rebels captured a majority in the state senate and house of representatives.

When the new house and senate sat in 1876, the former Confederates immediately prepared articles of impeachment against Ames. The governor was accused of improper appointments to state offices and other technicalities, but his personal honesty and integrity were never attacked. Ames knew the former rebels would stack any jury against him, so he agreed to resign if the articles were withdrawn.

The articles were withdrawn March 28, 1876, and Ames resigned the next day, the last Northern governor of a Southern state. For the next two decades, Ames was involved in the family business, real estate, banking and other enterprises in Minnisotta, New York and Lowell.

When the Spanish-American War broke out, Ames, though now 62 years old, offered his services to the army. He was appointed brigadier general of volunteers, and led a brigade in the trenches on Ft. San Juan Hill in Santiago, Cuba. After the war, he returned to retirement.

Friend of John D.

In his last days, Ames spread his time between Tewksbury and Ormand Beach, Florida, where he was a friend and golfing companion of John D. Rockerfeller Sr.

He built a summer home on his 700 acre estate in Tewksbury in 1903, and called it The Castle. Built on a drumlin, the building appears to be a small mansion of 18 large rooms, a kitchen, seven bathrooms, two halls and a pantry.

The name stems from its construction materials. The walls were built of fieldstone, and all the floors, even those upstairs, were constructed of reinforced concrete.

Ames played golf winters in Ormand Beach until he was 94 years old. On April 13, 1933 he died in his winter home at Ormand Beach, the last suriving union general in the Civil War, and one of the most promiment men in Tewksbury and American history.

CASTLE BUILT LIKE ONE: The Castle, General Ames' summer home, is built of fieldstone and reinforced concrete throughout. One of the most impressive structures in Tewksbuury, for the past 15 years has been used as a nursing home.

Mrs. Eldred Hopkins will host a coffee hour at 9:30, followed by a silent auction at 10:30; with Mrs. Milton Cram as chairman. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

The business meeting at which new members will be introduced by Mrs. William Butt will be held at 1:00.

At 1:45, the program will feature Mrs. Anne A. Larson who will address the group regarding "The Laughing American". Mrs. Larson, whose professional credits include Carnegie Mellen Institute, Neighborhood Playhouse, summer stock, TV and off Broadway, will offer excerpts from a dozen of the best American humorists.

The Wilmington Golden Agers have been invited as special guests.

OUTSTANDING TEWKSBURY CITIZENS

Mrs. Joan Dunlevy won the Distinguished Service Award; James Lennox was named Outstanding Young Man and Mrs. Barbara Flanagan was honored as Outstanding Young Women, before an enthuiastic gathering of over one hundred townspeople of Tewksbury. The awards were made on January 27th at the Elks home.

Mrs. Dunley, of 61 John Street is the wife of William Dunlevy and has eight children. She is a graduate of the Lowell General Hospital School of Nursing. Responsiveness to human need earned her the Distinguished Service Award.

Mrs. Dunlevy has given considerable time to the Drug Action Committee and presently serves as Tewksbury's one-woman hot line. She has the hot line phone installed in her home and takes all calls and refers them to professional help. She was active in the start of the Lowell area Share drug program and for the past five years she has been active in the Snap drug rehabilitation program at Walpole State Prison. In 1972, Mrs. Dunlevy put much effort into the Health Fair in Tewksbury. These and other efforts have led town officials to appoint her as the first health coordinator of Tewksbury.

James Lennos lives at 295 Marshall Street with his wife, Janet, and their three children. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from Auroro College and a Mster of Science from Rivier College in New Hampshire.

Mr. Lennox' activities in town are directed in the high school and the environment. As a biology teacher at Tewksbury Memorial High School, he has been dedicated to developing the high school curriculum in the areas of drug and health education.

Outside the classroom, Mr. Lennox has been the driving force behind the Tewksbury Environmental Conference, Ecology Committee, and recycling program. The latter program, now two years old, has become self sufficient. Income from the project is now used for other town needs, such as park equipment.

Mr. Lennox has served as an associate on the Conservation Commission and started an environmental newsletter. He has also been active in the Fish volunteer service program.

Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, of 278 Pine Street is the wife of Edward Flanagan and has four children. She received a Bachelor of Science degree from Lowell State Teachers College and a Master of Education from Bridgewater State. Mrs. Flanagan's volunteer work in the community has many facets.

She has given outstanding service to Fish, the volunteer service program, both as a coordinator, and as a member of the steering committee. She has taught Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes for the past seven years, and is a representative on the Interfaith Committee. This committee serves as a liason group among all the town's churches. Mrs. Flanagan is in her second consecutive year as a March of Dimes precinct captain. She is a member of the Seton Guild of Lowell, and was elected to the Tewksbury Democratic Town Committee in March 1972.

The awards program, which began at 8:30 pm, was emceed by Thomas Deede, a Jaycee International Senator from Winthrop. Tewksbury Jaycee President, Darrell Fernald, spoke briefly on the purpose of the awards.

Fernald stated that the presentation of the awards is intended to call attention to the outstanding community service performed by the winners and nominees, and to encourage others in the town to follow their unselfish example.

Following Fernald's remarks, the judges, representing community and church leaders from Tewksbury and neighboring towns, were introduced. Awards were presented to the winners, and certificates of honor to the other nominees. This concluded the formal ceremonies, after which the Jaycees and their guests enjoyed an evening of dancing.

POLICE FEAR 'RAPE' HYSTERIA

Wilmington police have announced there have been no rapes in the town during the recent series of sexual offenses in the area.

While a series of rapes have been reported in North Reading, Stoneham and other towns, police stressed, there have been no cases reported in Wilmington.

The police said they made the announcement because a Boston radio station recently made an inaccurate report Wilmington was one of the town struck by the rapist or rapists responsible.

Several residents, they said, expressed fears because of the inaccurate report, and the police wished to prevent possible hysteria that might result.

OUTSTANDING TEWKSBURY RESIDENTS: James Lennox, Barbara Flanagan and Joan Dunlevy were named outstanding citizens at ceremonies in the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks headquarters.

SINGER DRAWS TRIBUTE: Diane Caye presented a tribute to singer Angelo Picardi when Picardi recently performed at the Wilmington-Tewksbury Elks Lodge. Diane is president of Picardi's Wilmington fan club.

TEWKSBURY TO GREET IRISH YOUTHS

Ten young people and their advisor from Ireland will be hosted in Tewksbury this summer as part of "Operation Friendship", a youth exchange program sponsored locally by the Tewksbury Congregational Church.

The group from Ireland will arrive about July 15 and reside with local families through August 5. They will be exposed to the religious, educational, industrial, and cultural life of this area, become a real part of the family life of the host home, and share their culture and heritage in individual contact and programs and presentations.

Plans are now being made for a civic reception soon after they arrive; trips to Mount Monadnock, the White Mountains, the North Shore, Boston; visits to school museums, offices and manufacturing facilities and activities to involve the young epople of Tewwksbury. Several fund-raising efforts have been made and others are planned in the near future, to help off some of the hosting expenses.

Mrs. Jean Holmes of 11 Amos Street is the local chairman and William Abbott is representative to the Massachusetts Regional Committee. Besides the Tewksbury contingent, over 300 other youth will be staying in other Massachusetts, New Jersey and Indiana communities.

Operation Friendship offers young people between the ages of 15 and 21 the opportunity to represent their community and country in overseas travel every other year, and share in the hosting program in the off year.

This will be Tewksbury's first year as a hosting community, but last year foour persons traveled as part of the program. Miss Judy Holmes, and Richard Shaw visited Sweden during the summer of 1972, and the Rev. and Mrs. DAvid C. Williams headed up an Ambassador Team in Ireland that helped the Irish part of the program grown from 20 participants in the previous travel year to approximately 175 this year. Mrs. Williams is presently chairman of the Mass. Regional Committee, and Mr. Williams is a member of the national board of directors.

CASE CONTINUED FOR BREAK SUSPECT

Wilmington police charged a New Hampshire man and a minor from Milbury in Woburn District Court Wednesday with breaking into Rivers Trucking Company of Woburn Street early Wednesday.

Patrolman Bobby Stewart arrested David B. Pearl, 19, of Nelson Starr Rd., Keene, N.H., and the minor at 2:05 a.m.

Their case was continued until February 22.

FOUR ARRESTED FOR DOPE, CAR OFFENSES

Three Woburn youths arrested by Wilmington police were charged with car theft and possession of amphetamine drugs in Woburn District Court Monday. Their case was continued until February 21.

Patrolmen Bernard Nally and F. Richard Brown stopped the youths on Route 62 Sunday at 7:15 p.m. and discovered the vehicle was allegedly stolen in Medford that day.

Michael Rodriguez, 17, of 2 Water St., Ronald Roberts, 17, of 3 Alfred Rd., and a 16-year-old minor were charged with stolen car and drug charges. In addition, Roberts was charged with driving to endanger, failing to stop for a police officer and driving without a license.

BAIL SET AT $10,000 FOR WOBURN MAN

Bail was set at $10,000 with surety in Woburn District Court Tuesday for a man charged by Wilmington police with operating a car without authority and possession of burglarious tools.

Patrolmen William Sullivan and James Rooney stopped Kenneth Hayden, 21, of Nashua St., Woburn, Tuesday at 2:30 a.m. during a routine investigation on Burlington Avenue.

Hayden's case was continued until February 15.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere thanks to the Wilmington Fire Dept., and to Firemen Marshall and Robbins in particular for their aid and assistance during our recent time of need.

Thank you

Bits & Pieces

According to a proud parent, at least one student at Wilmington High School is a member of the National Honor Society and ranks, nationally among the top 99 in math. With schools demanding such a large portion of the tax dollar, perhaps those in charge should keep their employers better informed.

Police Chief and Mrs. Paul Lynch will celebrate their thirtieth wedding anniversary next Wednesday, St. Valentine's Day.

On Tuesday morning, February 13th at 10:30, a coffee hour will be held at the home of Mrs. Frederic V. Larson, 445 Middlesex Avenue. Mrs. Larson is chairman of the Wilmington's Club Legislative Committee. Residents are invited to attend and discuss issues of the coming town meeting with members of the League of Women Voters.

Winchester Hospital has initiated a new program of family-centered maternity care. Under the new program, the husband will be allowed to be present with his wife during labor and delivery, subject to the physician's approval and the new born babies will be allowed to room in with their mothers, if the mothers so desire.

HOCKEY HI-LITES

YOUTH HOCKEY NEWS

Bantam B's (9-6-3)..Coach Jerry McPhee's Bantam's got back on the winning track with a 4-3 victory over a strong Winthrop club last Thursday at the Youth Ice Arena.

Wilmington jumped to an early lead at 10:12 of the opening stanza as John Fahey scored with Ken Morse and Bob Murphy assisting. John Smith made it 2-0 at 11:21with assists going to Steve Pellerin and Matt Donnelly.

The momentum changed in the second period as Winthrop took the advantage scoring three unanswered goals to take a 3-2 lead. However, Bob Olson tied the game for Wilmington early in the last period on a 30 ft. blast. The tieing score came at 2:49.

The remainder of the last frame was even until 10:26 when Smith scored the gamee winner. Pellerin and Donnelly garnered assists on the play to give the B's a hard earned win.

The goal tending tendem of Mike Marini and Tony Viera was largely responsible for the win, as they made several key saves on shots labeled goal by Winthrop. Tonight at the Arena the boys skate against Marlboro in a 6:40 encounter.

Pee Wee A's (28-4-2)..Brian Tighe and Greg Moulton scored three goal "hat tricks" last Saturday to leaE the A's to a 12-1 trimuph over Medford at the Arena.

Sunday at Melrose the A's belted Charlestown as Tighe continued his torrid scoring pace firing home another hat trick. Gracia scored twice while Sullivan and Greg Moulton lit the scoring lamp once each.

This weekend the boys face Somerville on Saturday at the Youth Ice Arena and on Sunday morning they travel to Melrose for an 8:10 encounter with Everett.

Squirt A's (3-14-1)..Lost to North Reading, 3-2 despite a wide Wilmington advantage of 39-15 in shots on goal. Rich Robinson and Dave Kidd provided the Squirts with their two goals while assists were picked up by Steve Scanlon and Bobby Greenberg.

Squirt B's (8-9-1)..The B's out shot Burlington, 23-17 but could not score often enough and succumbed to the Red Devils, 3-1. Mark Boudreau tallied the lone Wilmington score with Frank DeVita assisting.

Pee Wee B's (11-16-0)..Lost to Billerica, 4-2. The two Wilmington scores were made by Lee Mugford and Dana Kidd. Brian Bulger and David Ballou picked up assists.

Mite A's (6-10-1)..The A's were shut out by third place Burlington, 4-0 on Monday evening at the Arena. Defenseman Bob Magliozzi received the game puck from the coaches for his best effort of the season on the blue line. "The Hustlers", Robson, Smith and Cushing, three of the younger players, turned in another fine performance on the forward line despite the final outcome of the contest.

The Mites concluded the regular season of play next Tuesday evening at the Arena with a 5:10 face off against Melrose.

TIM FOLEY: Of the Buckaroos (Intramural Sprites) chases a puck in last Friday's 4-1 win over the Spurs. Tim, at 39" and 40 pounds soaking wet is the youngest of Wilmington's 700 youngsters actively engaged in the Youth Hockey Program. The No. 4 on his helmet represents both his age and his aspirations to someday play like another well known No. 4.

WAHL NO-CHECK HOCKEY

Mon. Jan. 29th..In a battle of the top two clubs in the WAHL the Generals topped the Blazers, 6-2 to preserve their first place margin. The Cougars routed the last place Crusaders, 9-3 in tthe evening's second game.

Six different players scored for the league leaders, namely Don Currier, Jim Jillett, Charlie Arsenault, Paul Theriault, Dan O'Connell and Kevin Sullivan. Mark Peters and Earl Phillips scored the lone Blazer tallies which came in the opening stanza.

Five second period goals, highlited by Dana Tighe's hat trick, sparked the Cougar's win. The lowly Crusaders had jumped out to a 2-1 first period lead on the strength of goals by Dennis DeMaggio and Paul Currier.

Other scores came off the sticks of Bill Ritchie (3), Bob Peters, Joe Langone and Jim Meehan. Paul Cote and Tom Mazza picked up a pair of assists each in the contest.

Wed. Jan. 31st..The Blazers continued to have their troubles while the Generals ran their unbeaten streak to seven in the night's action at the Arena.

In the lid lifter the Crusaders tied the Blazers 4-4 with a third period goal by Paul Currier proving to be the difference. The Blazers have had their problems since the New Yeark picking up only 7 out of a possible 18 points.

Meanwhile, the Generals continued their fine showing of late with a 4-2 triumph over the Cougars. Ray Hillier, John Rose, Dan O'Connell and Bob Britt scored single goals each to lead the league leaders. John Gennetti and Bill Ritchie tallied once each in the final frame for the Cougars.

WILDCAT TALES

HOCKEY SEXTET DROPS TO THIRD

The varsity hockey squad had its three game win streak snapped last Saturday at the Forum as Billerica edged the Wildcats, 3-2.

Coach Fessenden's skaters led midway into the second frame, after a scoreless first period, on the strength of Frank McLean's tenth seasonal goal. However, the lead was short lived as the Indians tied the score a few minutes later.

In the last frame Billerica went ahead 3-1 before John Harrison closed the gap to a single goal with a power play effort, John's fifth marker of the year. Once again Dean Devlin was superb in the nets turning back 19 of the 22 shots and if it were not for Dean's effort the Wildcats would not have been in the contest.

McLEAN'S TENTH: After taking a pass from John Harrison, Frank McLean drives the puck by Billerica goalie John McLaughlin for his tenth seasonal goal and a short lived 1-0 Wildcat lead in last Saturday's MVHL encounter.

TRACK FINISHES THIRD IN LEAGUE

Coach Kelley's varsity track squad gained a third place in the annual No. Essex Track League Meet Tuesday afternoon finishing behind North Reading (32) and Chelmsford (31) with a score of 24½.

Point scorers for the Wildcats were Rick Barry, 2nd in the high hurdles with a time of 6.1; Jim Murphy, 2nd in 1000 in time of 2:31.1; Bob Reid, 2nd in shot put with a toss of 45'-10½"; Rick McCully, 3rd in hurdles; Doug Spring, 4th in 2-mile; Bob Scarano, 4th in shot; Tom Aprile, tie for 3rd in 300 yd. dash; and Don Capone, 5th in high jump.

State meet qualifiers for this Saturday's Class D affair at Reading High include: Barry and McCully in high hurdles; Aprile in 300; Murphy in 1000; Spring in 2-mile; Reid and Scarano in shot; Capone and Tim Nee in high jump and Paul Sferrazza in 50 yd. dash.

In the Northern Area Meet last Saturday at Lynn TEch the Wildcats failed to gain a place as over 450 athletes from 27 schools participated. The highest scorers for the varsity were Tom Aprile, 7th in 300 and Jim Murphy, eighth in the 1000.

Aprile broke his own school record for the third time this season in the 300 with a 35.5 clocking. The previous mark of 36.1 was set against North Reading. Co-capt. Murphy set a new mark in the 100 with a time of 2:37.3, snapping a 1961 record of 28.8 set by Dixon Knight in the State Meet at the Boston Garden.

Rick McCully made the semi-finals in the hurdles, but was eliminated despite running his seasonal best of 6.2. Tim Nee tied his seasonal high in the 600 with a time of 1:24.1. Ian MacInnis also ran his best race of the year and best of any Wildcat this winter with a 4:56.8 clocking in the mile.

Monday afternoon the jayvees participated in a tri-meet along with Lexington and Waltham. Some of the hilites included: Jimmy Busby gaining firsts in the 45 yd. dash and high jump while second place finishes were made by Joe Shibilia 37.3 in 300; Bob Nicholas, 1:30.2 in 600; while Lenny Daley picked up a third in the mile with a time of 5:07.0.

Others to place in the meet were: Joe Leary, 4th in 1000; Pete McNaughton, 4th in 2-mile and Steve Napolitano, 3rd in shot put.

BOYS BASKETBALL DROP A PAIR

Another poor second half by the Wildcats proved to be their down fall last Friday evening at Central Catholic whipped the varsity, 85-63.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wildcats | 19 | 14 | 16 | 14-63 |
| Central | 21 | 24 | 19 | 21-85 |

The inability to contain Central's Rick Bartlett (23 points and 8 assists) did not heop matters at all. Doug Stewart continued his fine play tossing in 17 points while grabbing down 12 rebounds to lead the Wildcat offensive attack. Tom Woods hit for double figures again hitting for 12 points while Bob Stewart turned in another good performance chipping in with 12. Central hit on 15 of 40 three throws compared to a 9 of 21 performance by the Wildcats at the charity stripe.

Tuesday afternoon a vastly improved Methuen club destroyed the varsity, 67-49 to drop the Wildcats to 4-11 on the season. Another poor shooting performance by the varsity, as they hit 23% of their field

Austin Prep Hi-Lites

Austin Prep winter sports were at a low ebb last week. Both the hockey and basketball dquads dropped two league encounters.

Last Wednesday at the Boston Garden, the Cougar cagers lost to Methuen 62-42. The game was a preliminary to the Celtics Cleveland Caveliers clash.

Pat Simmons of Wilmington, Austin's leading season scorer, was ably defensed by Joe Holden and the Methuen Team. As a result, Simmons was held to four points, far below his game average.

REDMAN SCALPINGS

Varsity Basketball extends win wkein..Coach Romano's hoop men whipped Austin Prep and Billerica recently to improve their seasonal record to 14-1, 11-1 in conference play.

The Redmen toyed with Austin while posting an easy 70-25 triumph over the Cougars. The win assured the varsity a post-season tourney bid. Joe Lewis led a well balanced attack hitting for 17 points while Jim Meuse chipped in with 12 and Gary Jenkins had 10.

Tuesday night co-captain Meuse went on a scoring rampage firing in 39 points to lead the varsity to a convincing 65-43 scalping of the Billerica Indians. Jim also dominated the boards as he hauled down rebounds.

The next four contests are on the road as the Redmen travel to Lawrence Friday evening to battle Central CAtholic in a 7:45 encounter.

Pucksters top Lions..The varsity hockey sextet whipped Chelmsford, 3-0 last Saturday at the Forum as goal tender George Hughes registered his second seasonal shutout.

Conlin Ahern, Gary Simpson and Steve Dunlevy scored the necessary goals while Ed Hill, Greg Wilkie and Dunlevey garnered assists in spirited win.

Last night the icemen battle Austin and this eeekend they skate against league leading Andover in a 12:30 pm clash.

Wrestlers continue to drop opposition..The varsity matmen extended their present win streak to seven with wins over Hamilton-Wenham and Dracut while improving their seasonal record to 11-3

The varsity concludes its regular season of matches with two home encounters. Tomorrow the boys host Leominster at 6:30 pm while next Tuesday Saugus provides the opposition in a 3:30 pm clash.

WILMINGTON RECREATION BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Adults..On Wednesday, January 31st Sweetheart threw a scare into undefeated Super-Stars before the league leaders won out, 71-66. Paul Lyman led the Stars with 18 points while Joe Dooley and Bob Klesaris led the Sweetheart quintet with 19 and 18 each.

In the nite cape Patenaude snapped its four game losing streak with a convincing 85-54 triumph over hapless Cain's. Gene Manley led the winners with 28 while teamates Paul Ritchie and Keigh Anderson chipped in with 22 and 20 respectively. Len Gustus led the Cain's listless attack with 24 points.

Sunday evening saw two of the better contests played in the league history as Super-Stars won their eighth straight, 81-76 over Newhouse while Patenaude edged Wilmington Ford, 79-74.

The Stars and Newhouse exchanged leads many times in a close fierce battle and entering the final period the score was deadlocked at 56-56. In the last stanza George Pratt tossed in nine points while Paul Lyman chipped in with 8 and the Stars went on to outscore Newhouse 25-20 to provide the final margin of victory. Mark Conserva led all scorers tossing in 29 points for Newhouse before exiting on fouls. Pratt led the well balanced Stars attack with 21 points.

Patenaude and Ford battled each other throughout until the final moments when the experienced Patenaude club Eon out. Bill Jensen turned in his best game ever hitting for 33 points to lead Wilmington Ford, but it was not enough to offset the scoring tandern of Mickey Sullivan (26) and Keith Anderson (25) of Patenaude.

With the second round rapidly coming to a close the race for 2nd and 5th place is tight with only two games separating four clubs as indicated in the standings.

Seniors..Royals clinch top spot while Lakers are eliminated from playoff competition. These two happenings were fact followi g last Saturday's action. Coach Kritter's divisional winners broke open a tie ballgame (25-25 after three periods) with a 15-8 scoring advantage in the final period to whip the Knicks, 42-33.

Bobby Burns again led the way for the Royals tossing in 24 points while Scott MacGillvray chipped in with 10. Dana Daniell led an undermanned Knicks attack with 10 points.

The Pistons kept their slim playoff hopes alive with a 47-38 triumph over the Lakers. Ralph Peterson led the Pistons attack with 20 points while Bob Walsh contributed 12 as Coach Riley's boys eliminated the hard luck Lakers from the playoffs. Jim Buck tossed in 18 points in a gallant effort to keep the Lakers in contention, but it was to no avail.

Meanwhile the Bullets knocked off the Celtics, 49-37 to set up a three way tie for third place as the final weekend of play is upon everybody. Doug McLain (14), Paul Magee (12), Barry Foster (10) and Scott Gordon (10) led a well balanced Bullet attack. Ed Maloney tossed in 12 for the Celtics.

Juniors..The Patriots extended their unbeaten streak to eight with a 39-15 win over the Broncos and thus clinched first place in their loop. Dave Sousa continued his fine play for the Pats tossing in 10 points.

In other action the Raiders won a nir defeating the Chargers, 22-8 and the Chiefs, 28-18 to move into third place while the Chiefs bounced back to upset the second place Jets, 25-22.

With two games left for most of the clubs and a three way tie for third place anything can and probably will happen this weekend as the regular season of play draws to a rousing finish.

Intermediates..Yale bested Tufts, 18-15 while divisional leading Harvard edged MIT, 13-12.

Finance Committee Hearing

There were 25 persons present when the Finance Committee of Wilmington began its annual Public Hearing, last Thursday, in Wilmington High School, and a few more persons came in later. With one exception everyone who spoke during the hearing confined his remarks to the subject, and kept away from personalities.

Chief of Police Paul Lynch (who is not the person referred to above) has an article which seeks to re-establish some of this authority as a Chief of Police, in the assignment of duties for policemen, with regard to overtime. Mr. Lynch, on Article 27, explained to the Finance Committee that overtime assignments were out of his hands, and if a resident of Wilmington were to request that a certain police officer be assigned (for instance) to "cover" a wedding, neither that police officer nor the Chief could do anything about the request.

Obviously Mr. Lynch was not happy about the situation. No one else spoke on it.

The next Article, Article 27, found Atty. Simon Cutter upping his offer for sharing costs of construction of Ainsworth Road.

Speaking in behalf of his clients, Cutter told the Finance Committee that they were prepared to spend $10,000 for the construction of Ainsworth Road, if it was accepted by the Town Meeting, and if the cost of construction is over $20,000, his clients would pay half the cost.

In his opinion the cost of construction would not go over $10 or $12 thousand. The water betterments, being paid by a private individual were illegal, Cutter said (he was referring to those paid by the Jensen family, next door).

Cutter went on to say that the deed had never been signed by John (Bob) Evans, former owner of the old railroad right-of-way. In further conversations, involving Attorney Joseph Courtney, the Town of Wilmington was described as "the culprit". "The town failed to record - none of the agreements could be observed". "The Town of Wilmington created the problem, and I think the Town of Wilmington should solve it".

Mr. Courtney described the statement by Cutter as an "eminently suitable proposal".

Another speaker on the problem was Stanley Webber, former Wilmington Assessor. Mr. Webber said that he could "verify Mr. Cutter's statement - absolutely the tow 's fault".

Fence

Article 29 seeks to have the town construct a fence around an area of Martin's Brook, scene of a recent drowning. Frank Ottati of Hathaway Acres told the Finance Committee that only a small area was involved, about 15 yards by 30 yards. The neighbors, he said, felt it was necessary because the site was out of sight from any of the nearby homes.

Town Manager Sterling Morris said that if the town does vote for the fence "we are recommending - a larger area".

Willis Lyford spoke on Article 30, in behalf of his son. Mr. Lyford said that the townspeople could save $12,500 a year, "and it won't hurt the Water Department". The article proposes a new system of billing residents, by the Water Department.

The majority of the articles for re-qoning had some opposition, although it was expressly stated by the Finance Committee that the real hearing, for zoning, would be in a Planning Board hearing, later.

Bob Wagstaff, who spoke in favor of reaoning land at the end of Lowell Street Park, overlooking Route 93, found an unexpected ally in the person of Chairman of the Selectmen George Boylen. Mr. Boylen spoke up to say that the town should rezone the land. Wagstaff was speaking for land owned by Mrs. Anderson, the widow of the former Building Inspector. He had a letter from the DPW of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, saying that it was doubtful if the proposed cloverleaf would be built, "in the forseeable future".

Building Inspector Roy McClanahan spoke against the Planning Board proposal to increase lot areas, in residential zones. He found it difficult to understand why this should be done, he said.

Sewer commission to explain Activities

The Tewksbury Sewer Commission agreed last week to hold a public hearing in town hall February 20 at 8 p.m. to explain commission activities up to that date. An explanation of planned sewers for the town and their funding would highlight the meeting.

The method of assessing residents for sewer use was released by the commission.

Under the plan, there would be no assessment for undeveloped land beside sewer lines until the land is developed, and cost of house service from the property line would be paid by the homeowner. The cost of service from the public sewer line to the property lines would be paid for as a part of construction costs.

Assessments would be $5 a foot for sewerage frontage and 5.5 cents a square foot of property (up to a maximum depth of 100 feet).

A lot with 100 feet of frontage on a street with a sewer line as well as 200 feet of depth would, therefore, have an assessment based on the following formula:

100 multiplied by $5 (total $500) plus a square footage assessment of 100 multiplied by 100 (10,000) miltiplied by 5.5 cents ($550) for a total of $1050.

Example

|---|---|
| 100 x 5 = | $500 |
| 100 x 100 = 10,000 x 5.5¢ | $550 |
| | $1050 |

Homes located on corner lots where both adjoining streets are serviced by sewers would have a more involved assessment. The entire length of the longest property line adjoining a sewered street, with the exception of the curve at the corner, would be used as part of the assessment. Only half of the curve would be used as part of the assessment. A hundred feet of frontage on the shortest property line on a sewered street would not be used as part of an assessment.

The formula for a corner lot with 200 feet of frontage on its longest frontage on a sewered street and 150 feet on its shortest frontage on a sewered street would therefore be as follows, provided the curve is considered to be 50 feet:

175 plus 25 plus 25 (225) multiplied by $5 (total $1125) plus a square footage assessment of 200 multiplied by 100 (20,000) multiplied by 5.5 cents (total $1200) for a total of $2325.

Example

|---|---|
| 175+25+25=225 x $5 | $1125 |
| 200 x 100=20,000 x 5.5¢ | 1200 |

Letter

Dear Mr. Morris:

One of the candidates for Tewksbury School Committee, in his announcement of candidacy, stated that he was going to obtain more federal funds for our school system. This kind of irresponsible statement, in view of the fact that we now obtain maximum reimbursement from all government agencies, perpetrates a fraud upon the electorate of Tewksbury.

Considering the quality, or lack of it, existing on our present school committee, this type of political rhetoric is nothing more than a continuation of the type of junk the school committee has been fostering on the citizens of Tewksbury for the past few years. One thing we don't need is another well-spoke lacky of the Chairman, the Superintendent, and their high priced entourage.

What we do need is for our money to be spent judiciously and more carefully, because until they learn to act properly with the six million dollars they use now, they shouldn't be given any more of the taxpayer's money to waste.

The majority of the present School Committee who voted at town meeting in favor of relocatable classrooms then reneged on a unanimous mandate from town meeting and themselves, now want to spend an additional 1.7 million dollars to supply the same number of classrooms. This is the kind of irresponsible spending I am talking about.

We're paying a reading coordinator (department heads used to be good enough) more than $17,000 per year. Yet recent figures support the fact that less than half of our students read at a level approaching the national average. Why isn't some of that excessive salary applied toward teaching aids and re-evaluation of teaching methods to improve the quality of education rather than the lining of someone's pocket.

For years the position of the School Committee has been used by businessmen who want free advertising of their name, as a stepping stone for aspiring young politicians or a prestigious velvet seat for nice old women who may have been politically effective some years ago, but are now politically effective as someone else's pawn. The attitude exists on the School Committee can in part be blamed on us, the voters. I've spent as much time trying to think of a nice way to say Mrs. Dewing is 84 years old, as I have in constructing this entire letter. Mrs. Dewing simply does not belong as a voting member of a School Committee which handles $6,000,000. For years she has been used as a majority vote for a two-man team she trusts and respects. If she only knew....They even had her convinced that it was against the law to vote against the recommendation of the Superintendent.

It's very frustrating to sit at town meetings and vote to appropriate money to a School Committee only to have them spend it differently or ignore you altogether. How discouraging it must have been and must still be for those poor "Shawsheen School Mothers" who banged their heads against the proverbial stonewall only to have the mortar shoved down their throats by the School Committee.

It's too bad that those South Tewksbury people, like all of us, didn't take an interest in what the School Committee was doing to us until it hit us between the eyes. Apparently, the School Committee thinks it is more important than the children and parents it is elected to serve. Another candidate for the office in his announcement said that the School Committee was "so wrapped up in its self-enriching administrative web that it has forgotten its primary purpose for existing - the proper education and guidance of children in preparation for life". I've mulled it over and that's the kind of man who knows what has to be done.

In 1892 Sir James Crichton-Browne indicated that there might be a relationship between a righ rate of dental decay. in England and a lack of fluorides in the diet.

In 1902 Dr. J.M. Eager, a U.S. Marine Hospital medical officer, first described dental fluorosis. It was not until 1942 however, that fluoride was actually identified as the agent that can help prevent dental decay.

Children raised on fluoride water showed 65% less tooth decay than children of the same age group prior to fluoridation.

FALLING FOR FRILLS

Many people go househunting in a remarkably casual way - and sometimes end up making costly mistakes. One of the mistakes a househunter can make is to buy the frill instead of the house. All too often a family will fall in love with an eye-catchingg feature and buy the wrong house. This mistake happens frequently and in all price ranges.

Families skip over careful consideration of the major factors because something minor has really grabbed them. The lure may be a charming fireplace, a glamourous lighting fixture, a garage door opener, or even a dogwood in bloom.

Yielding to superficial attractions like these can result in your family winding up with a thoroughly unsuitable house. Bear in mind that these same alluring features can usually be added to another house at a relatively small cost, considering the amount of the overall purchase.

TEWKSBURY ACTING FIRE CAPTAINS NAMED

Kenneth W. Holden and Richard A. Starling have been named acting captains in the Tewksbury Fire Department. Until permanent civil service appointments are made, Holden will replace Frederick R. Millett, who died January 21, and Starling will replace James T. Grourke, who retires Monday.

Holden, 37, of 173 East St., joined the department as a call firefighter in 1952. He was appointed permanent firefighter in November 1960.

Many town residents know him as the grandson of Harry Briggs, one of the town's first forest wardens. He served at the south substation for six years, and trained the town's first ambulance crews. Holden took courses in first aid, cardio pulmonary-resuscitation, emergency medical treatment and hospital emergency room procedures.

He is married to the former Helen Dunn, and has seven children.

Starling, 38, of 699 Rogers St., was appointed call firefighter in 1955. He was named a permanent firefighter in November 1960, and served generally in the central station.

He took courses in first aid and cardio-pulmonary-resuscitation. Married to the former Sylvia Roberts, he has three children.

CERAMICS CLASS

Ceramics, and Flower Decorating are two of the classes taught in Wilmington High School on Tuesday evenings, and the Town Crier got a snap of the ceramics students of Mrs Marion Woller, of Main Street.

Mrs Woller is in the back. In the very front are Virginia Murphy, Barbara Carpenter and Ruth Bouvier.

He has emblems from only 300 regiments. Mark Shields, a 16 year old from Lawrence, displayed his collection of U. S. Army insignia, and insignia from the British Army and Colonial and Commonwealth Armies, last week, at the Wilmington Rotary club luncheon.

Mark apologized because he had insignia from 'only 300 regiments'. Someone in Texas it seems, has from 1100.

Those people from Texas!

TEWKSBURY LWV PLANS KNOW YOUR TOWN MEETING

The Tewksbury League of Women Voters will sponsor on Thursday, February 15, at the High School at 8 pm, "School for Town Meeting".

Joseph Whelan, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, will explain these questions and other pertinent information on how Town Meeting originated, how it operates, and its purpose.

Following Mr. Whelan's presentation will be a question and answer period. The League of Women Voters wishes to encourage all residents of the Town to attend, especially new residents who may not be familiar with Town Meeting procedures.

YOUTH CHARGED WITH ASSAULT ON POLICE

A 15-year-old Wilmington youth was charged with car theft and assault and battery on police with an automobile in Woburn District Court Monday. His case was continued until February 21.

Wilmington Patrolmen Michael McKenna and Robert LaRivee stopped the youth during a routine investigation Saturday at 7:33 p.m.

METHODIST COUPLES PRESENT 'LAUGH-IN'

The Couples Club of the Tewksbury United Methodist Church, will present "Rowan and Martin's LaughIn" as their tenth annual production under the direction of Liborio A. Salamone and the following cast.

Beverly and Bill Cashman, Joyce and James Murray, Don and Marge Saunders, Bill DeMille, Fred Garry and Jim Harmon. Mr. Salamone and the cast will present an evening of irreverent fun, rapid fire lines, zany characters, gags and an avalanche of madness.

The familiay cocktail party, the Joke Wall, a nostalgic skit "The Little Red Schoolhouse" with a community sing-a-long and a burlesque melodrama with mortgage, tears and the audience can applaud the hero, boo the villain, weep Et the plight of "Little Nell".

The "Little Leprechaun" will usher in all these festivities on March 16 and 17 at the South Tewksbury United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

goal attempts making 20 of 88. Meanwhile, the Rangers hit on 26 of 61 attempts.

From the charity stripe Methuen was 15 for 21 compared to the Wildcats 9 for 26. The varsity played an all-around poor game as weak rebounding and defensive play in the second and third periods (41-18 spred for Methuen) made it difficult for the Wildcats to come back in the fourth stanza. Bob Stewart led all scorers in the game with 19 points.

The jayvees split their two outings, defeating Lawrence Central while bowing to Methuen and are now sporting an overall 8-7 record. Ralph Peterson hit for 20 points in leading Coach Milley's club to its 47-34 triumph over Central.

The freshmen suffered defeat Tuesday at the hands of a strong Methuen club, which has lost only once in twelve outings, by a 46-33 count.

Despite an outstanding game by Marty Tildsley, turnovers and poor free throw shooting prevented the younger Wildcats from catching Methuen. In the last period the frosh had possession of the ball twice with only a two point deficit, but could not score.

The frosh are now 3-5 on the season with only two games left to be played next week. On Tuesday the boys host Andover West Jr. High while Austin Prep comes in on Thursday afternoon.

TRAVEL CLUB WILL SPONSOR CLIPPERS

I. Under the heading "Minimum Lot Depth", the words "300 feet".

J. Under the heading "Maximum Lot Coverage for buildings or structures", the words "30 per cent".

VI. To add to Section V, subsection V-4 thereof, under the caption "SET BACK AND YARDS", the following:

In paragraph D, in the first sentence, after the phrase, "in any district", and before the word "no", insert the words "except in a Limited Garden Apartment District".

VII. To add to Section VIII, subsection VIII-I, under the caption "ENFORCEMENT", subparagraph "E" as follows:

1. The applicant for Limited Garden Apartments, shall file an application and two copies of the site plan with the Building Inspector: one copy of the site plan with the Planning Board: one copy of the site plan with the Town Engineer.

2. The site plan shall show:

(a) The location and size of the site.

(b) The density of use to be allocated to parts of the site to be developed.

(c) The location and size of any open space.

(d) The approximate height and location of buildings and structures.

(e) The proposed location of all public utilities, sanitary waste and storm water drainage.

(f) The provisions for vehicular access, parking of vehicles and the location and width of proposed streets, public ways and private access driveways. Also the proposals for screening and topographical changes.

(g) At the time of filing the site plan, the landowner shall also file with the Town Clerk, the landowners interest in the land proposed to be developed.

3. Within 45 days after receipt by the Town Engineer and the Planning Board of a copy of the site plan, each shall submit a written report of their findings and recommendations, if any, to the Building Inspector and to the applicant.

4. Within 60 days after receipt by the Building Inspector of an application and site plan for Limited Garden Apartments, the Building Inspector shall:

(a.) Make a finding and determination that the proposed site plan is adequate for the reasonable protection of the public health and safety, or

(b) Issue a written denial of the application and site plan, stating in complete detail the reasons for said denial, and further specifying in complete detail each and every change and modification in said application and site plan, together with the reasons therefore, which if accepted by the applicant and incorporated in or applied thereto would result in approval of the application and site plan by the Building Inspector, or

(c) The Building Inspector may, in his discretion, instead of denying the application and site plan, make such findings and determination subject to stated reasonable conditions and restrictions in writing, which if assented to by the applicant in writing, shall be deemed to have been incorporated into and made a part of the application and site plan, without requiring the applicant to submit or resubmit a modified or amended application and site plan.

(d) The Building Inspector shall file with his records a written report of his final action on each application, with reasons therefore. A copy of each report shall also be filed with the Planning Board and the Town Engineer, or do anything in relation thereto.

HEART FUND DRIVE DIFFERENT THIS YEAR

This February, Heart Month, volunteers will not be going door to door in Wilmington according to Frederick MacDonald, Wilmington Heart Fund Chairman.

According to MacDonald, "Here in Wilmington, I will be personally asking all community residents to give to the 1973 Heart Fund. In the coming week, you will receive a pamphlet explaining the work of the Heart Association and a letter from me asking that you support the Heart Association's vitally important efforts to combat our nation's number one killer - heart disease."

MacDonald explained that each year it becomes increasingly difficult to recruit neighborhood volunteers and Wilmington has been chosen as an experimental area that will determine the success of alternative ways to raise funds.

While a return envelope is enclosed for convenience in returning a donation to the Heart Association, MacDonald also pointed out that donations can be left with Ken Bushey, Heart Fund treasurer for Wilmington, at the Melrose-Wakefield Bank on Lowell St., at the Lucci Shopping Center.

For further information about the Heart Fund drive in Wilmington or the work of the Greater Boston Heart Association, call 267-4400.

TEWKSBURY LALECHE LEAGUE MEETS FEB. 14

The new Tewksbury Group of LaLeche League will hold its first meeting - "Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Baby" on Wednesday, February 14th at 8:15 pm at the home of Mrs. Lois Sheehan, 251 Foster Road Tewksbury. Group leader will be Mrs. Bobby Jo Morris.

The name LaLeche is Spanish and means "the milk". A non-sectarian, non-profit organization, the League's purpose is to help encourage better mothering through breastfeeding.

The continuing series of informal meetings is open to all women interested in breastfeeding. Babies are always welcome. At any time a mother may call LaLeche League for telephone counseling or the manual, "Womanly Art of Breastfeeding". For further information contact Mrs. Sheehan at the above address.

Letter

Dear Larz:

Thank you for our write up in last week's paper.

First I would like to let the readers know that the Grange meets at our hall on Bay St., Wilmington on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month, and that we are looking for new members at any time. If anyone is interested in joining a family organization, either in Wilmington or Tewksbury, just call 658-8064, 658-3781 or 658-5766 and we will be glad to giveee you more information.

It is the only organization that we know of that both husband and wife can join together. We also have a junior Grange that children from the age of four to 14 can join. When they reach 14 they can join the regular Grange.

Our next meeting will be held Wednesday Feb. 14, and we will be confering the first and second degrees on our incoming members. It will be our inspection night, so we would like to have all of our members present, especially the officers.

Refreshments will be served after the degrees.

Thank you,
Mary Howard

Outside judge to rule on police brutality Charge

Judges at Lowell District Court Tuesday declined hearing an application for a charge two Tewksbury police committed assault and battery against a man January 27. a judge from another court will be brought in to hear the application at an undetermined future date.

A hearing on an application for the charge against Sgt. Paul G. Johnson and Ptl. G. Kenneth Hague was scheduled Tuesday after the court clerk Friday declined allowing the charge himself.

Leo J. Cullinan Sr., 48, of 17 Knollwood Rd., Tewksbury, alleges Johnson and Hague beat his son, Leo J. Cullinan Jr., 22, of the same address, when they arrested him.

The elder Cullinan Friday withdrew an application for another assault and battery complaint against Johnson or Hague, whichever was driving a patrol car used to stop his son at the time of the alleged beating.

Leo J. Cullinan Sr. had alleged the driver committed assault and battery with the patrol car against him when he was driving in a different car from his son when the incident occured on Shawsheen Street.

Johnson and Hague charged Leo J. Cullinan Jr. with drunk driving and drunkenness when they arrested him January 27. The charge was later changed to disorderly conduct, threatening Johnson and Hague and operating an uninsured, unregistered car. Johnson and Hague's case against Leo J. Cullinan Jr. was continued January 29 in Lowell District Court until March 2.

Leo J. Cullinan Jr. was also found innocent by a six-man jury at Lowell District Court Tuesday of driving an unregistered, uninsured car January 30, 1972.

Leo J. Cullinan Sr., another son, Walter, 16, both of 17 Knollwood Rd., and Edward D. Anderson, 52, and his son, Wayne K., 17, both of 9 Sharon Ave., are sueing Johnson, Ptl. Allan Stephens, also for the Tewksbury police, Stephens' brother-in-law, Kenneth P. Maglio, 23, and town selectmen in Federal District Court in connection with another incident.

The two fathers and their sons charged their civil rights were violated in connection with an alleged beating given Walter Cullinan and Wayne K. Anderson by Stephens and Maglio December 24, 1971.

Charges lodged by the state against Stephens and Maglio in connection with the Christmas Eve incident were denied in Lowell District Court June 22. The Andersons and Cullinans were witnesses in that case.

Neither the Andersons nor the Cullinans were involved in a civil action against Stephens and Maglio in Lowell District Court June 22, as was previously reported.

HOME OWNERS CORNER

By Roger

Do the chairs in your house shake? The cause may not be anything more than a loose rung or two. The remedy for this is quite simple.

When a rung becomes loose, it is because the glue holding it tight has dried and will not hold. Scrape old glue out of the joint and off the rung; then reglue.

Remember to bind each joint as you redo it, using cord or special chair braces. This will hold the joint in place until it is completely dry.

It's simple to find the supplies you need if you shop at Sweezey Home Courtesy Center, 615 Main St., Wilmington, 658-2051. We cater to the do-it-yourselfer with personal service and are always pleased to offer suggestions and help on your projects. Rockwell power tools can be an enormous time saver when building or remodeling. ## Professional Office Building slated for Lowell Street

The Wilmington Board of Appeals has given its approval for the construction of a Professional Building, on Lowell Street, about opposite to Avco. The site is at the corner of Bay Street and Lowell Street. A hearing in which both the Planning Board and the Town Engineer contested the granting of a building permit was held by the Appeal Board on January 23rd.

The building is to be erected by Professional Technology, of 575 Boylston Street, Boston. The firm already owns several buildings of this type, in Massachusetts, one being in Gloucester and another in Acton. bob Fairchild of Professional Technology represented his company at the hearing. The Board of Appeals had previously given its approval of an entirely medical-dental building on the site.

Mr. Fairchild told the board that the bank which was being used by the firm would not accept the wording on the variance that had been granted. The variance that was being sought on January 23rd was one of a change from the parking by-law.

The Wilmington Planning Board through Bill MacKinnon said it was opposed because there was another such building only half a mile down the street which had fully complied with the Zoning By-Laws. MacKinnon felt to grant the variance would be unfair.

FAIRCHILD AND FRIENDS: At the public hearing. Mr. Fairchild is at left, and beside him, chin cupped in hand, is Bill MacKinnon of the Wilmington Planning Board. Nearer the camera is Bruce MacDonald, member of the Board of Appeals and former Selectman of Wilmington.

John Majeski, acting Town Engineer, wrote a letter to the Board of Appeals in which he stated that he was opposed to the variance because he felt there would be insufficient parking, particularly if the proposed building should house an insurance office. He did, however, agree with the previous variance, which limited the clientel to persons in the medical or dental professions.

Fairchild had told the board that it was planned to rent to physicians, and to X-ray firms and related medical offices. Mitch Mosler of the Health Planning Counsel of Greater Boston also appeared and said that the building would be a convenience to both Doctor and patients. The vote in favor of granting the variance was unanimous.

CAKE SALE BY PILGRIM FELLOWSHIP

On Friday, Saturday 9 from 3:30 to 8 pm, the Jr. Hi Pilgrim Fellowship of the Tewksbury Congregational Church will conduct a sale of home-baked goods at the North Tewksbury Plaza (across from Wamesit Theatre).

The sale will help send young people to church camps and conferences this summer. Two years ago the church sent six, last year 12 and this year it hoped that 24 may go.

Congributions of cookies, cakes, pies, cupcakes, should be brought to Mrs. Barbara Patterson, 50 Helvetia Road or to the Plaza on Friday after 3:30 pm.
